Noncompliance to the regulations or suggestions always leads to elimination. When the judges become aware of a violation, they make note and inform the violator. Any other authorized member of the organization can make a note of the violation and submit it to the Racing Committee.

7. ROUTE MARKING:

7.1. The route marking is abundant. There is stripped tape (red and white) and painted mountain marking to ensure the athlete’s correct course. On the cobbled roads, there will be marking with biodegradable fluorescent spray, which will erase in a few days.

7.2. The route marking made by the organization, is temporary and aims to assist the athletes and is removed after the races. It consists mainly of signs with kilometer indications or guiding signs and even deterrent signs when necessary.

7.3. At certain key points of the route, there will also be volunteers to help guide the athletes.

8. SAFETY

8.1. Athletes participate at their own risk and the organizational authorities are not responsible for any possible injuries, as stated on the submission form. However, there will be a volunteer Rescue Team covering the race. Furthermore, there will be a specialized medical staff at certain strategical points as well as fully equipped ambulance.

8.2. Athletes should be examined by a doctor, who will qualify them to take part in the specific race. The medical consent form shouldn’t be older than 30 days from the day of the race.

9. TIME LIMITS

9.1. There is a time limit of eight and a half (8:30) hours only for the longest race “HYDRA’S TRAIL MARATHON”. There is two (2) in-between check point where elimination can occur. That points are

2. Episkopi (25,3^o klm) at 5 hours and 45 minutes

The elimination check point has been set for the athletes’ safety and for the race’s smooth conduct. Athletes, who don’t manage to cross that point in time, are considered eliminated and can continue the race only on their own responsibility, but must turn in their number to the Station’s judges. The elimination time has been calculated based on the average movement time that an athlete needs to complete the eight and a half (8:30) hours race limit. The elimination time is the same for all categories, regardless of gender or age. After completing the time mentioned, the Station supervisor continues recording the athletes but as overdue, and athletes who pass from there are obligated to turn in their number. Finally, for a race completion to be considered valid, it must be within eight and a half (8:30) hours exactly, for men and women of all categories. Any athletes, who complete the race in overtime, are considered valid until the last check point and will be presented on the final results as “overdue finalists”.

10. ATHLETE’S NUMBER:

10.1. Each athlete holds the race number (bib) on him/her and is obligated to have it at a clear place on the front side of his/her shirt. Disposing rubbish at any other area of the route that is not predefined, leads to elimination.

16.1. There is no mandatory equipment for the athletes. It is, however, recommended that they carry a small backpack with some supplies such as sunglasses, hat, wide mouth water bottle, solid food of their choosing, to use in-between supply stations. Each athlete is responsible for his/her choice of utensil (cup, container, utricule, bottle etc), in order to be provided with the proper amount of liquids. The liquids offered by the Station staff will be in a practical dispenser. To save time, athletes should carry utensils with wide mouths that fill up faster. Athletes are responsible for carrying one or two containers for water and isotonic drinks. Each athlete may receive ONLY one gel at the Stations where it’s offered. Carrying a water pack or backpack or waist bag is allowed. Leaving a bag at a Station is the athlete’s responsibility.

ATTENTION: The organization will not provide cups or bottles for environmental purposes.

17. CHECK POINTS:

17.1. The check points are eight (8) in total. All seven (7) Supply Stations are also Check Points. There are also two more Check Points. Athletes are obligated to have their numbers at a visible place so that the judges can record them. If in any case an athlete is wearing a windbreaker jacket, he/she should make sure to show his/her number. Not showing the race number leads to elimination. Any athlete, who fails to pass by even one Station, is considered disqualified.

18. OBJECTIONS:

18.1. Any objections are made only by the athlete himself/herself, no longer than 30 minutes after crossing the finishing line.
